ASRC Transport & Attendance Policy

Responsibility for transport of Junior Members

All parents/guardians are responsible for ensuring their children (anyone under 18 years old) are safely delivered to, and collected from ASRC activities.

Arrangements with other parents

When a parent asks another parent to transport their child, it is the responsibility of the requesting parent to confirm the safety and suitability of the travel arrangement.

Responsibilities during races and training

Anyone providing transport for athletes to races or training sessions must remain present for the duration of the event. If this is not possible, they must assign another responsible adult and inform the coaches or organisers.

Transporting children who are not your own

If a parent transports children other than their own, they are expected to:

- Ensure that the athlete's equipment is appropriate and safe for use.
- Take responsibility for the athlete's welfare in case of injury or if hospital treatment is needed while the athlete is in their care.
- Ensure the athlete is comfortable with the situation.
- Have a plan in place with the parents, and be able to contact them should they need to attend for an emergency.

Role of ASRC Coaches

ASRC is not responsible for arranging transport for children to or from training sessions or events. Parents should not request that coaches provide transport for their child. Coaches will not transport children who are not their own, except in emergency situations.

If the policy affects participation

If this policy makes it difficult for a child to attend ASRC activities, parents are encouraged to discuss the matter with the Club Welfare Officer on asrccwo@gmail.com.
